Many of Liberated Men Are Too Weak From Malnutrition And Old Wounds To Walk

By C. YATES McDANIEL
GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Luzon, Jan. 31.—(Delayed)—(P)—Men of Bataan, Corregidor and Singapore—513 of them—were snatched from under the flaming muzzles of Japanese guns last night in an exploit of unmatched daring.

all that were left in the prison camp in Nueva Ecija Province of eastern Luzon.
Many more hundreds of more able-bodied war prisoners had been sent to work camps in Japan. Hundreds of others had died.

There is a possibility, and only a possibility, that the only Fayette County soldier known to have been captured by the Japanese on Luzon may have been among the men liberated when the Yanks captured an American prison camp on Luzon.

three-year-old wounds that they could not walk when they were cut loose from Japanese bondage.
The rescue cost the lives of 27 Rangers and Filipinos in a Guerrilla unit led by Maj. Robert Lapham of Davenport, Ia., who fought off a savage tank-led Japanese attack along the escape corridor.

Meandering Along the Main Stem
By WASH FAYETTE

I expect we should have consulted the "Paint Valley Prophet" and learned in advance about this six weeks (or more) of snow, rain, six weeks (or more) of snow, rain, more ice, that has gripped the community.

Come to think of it this unusual weather should have been no surprise, because of the old saying that "one extreme follows another."

I refer to those 48 days last spring and summer when the mercury danced around between 70 degrees and something over 100, and how we all were so thoroughly saturated with heat and dust, due to the drought, that we wished for some cooler weather, and recalled with a deep sense of satisfaction the snow and cold of previous years, and the recollection helped ease the torridity.

I have been trying to turn the situation about, and think of some of that dry, hot weather last spring and summer, to help tide over the long siege of real winter that has gripped the community for a record-breaking length of time.

Suppose every time you walk over some of that ice and snow so many inches thick, that you just recall how Qld Sol bore down last summer and you wished for just a little bit of ice to help cool you off!

Well, it's worth trying, anyway. It seems there is need of a modern Pied Piper in Washington C. H. at the present time.

A great many of you recall the famous story of the Pied Piper of Hamelin who played his magic flute and the rats came forth and followed him until they plunged into the river and were drowned. Then, when the town officials refused to pay him the fee he charged the piper started playing another tune and all of the children followed him into a mountain and the mountain closed over them. That is Robert Browning's famous story in eccentric rhyme as I recall it.

Anyway, take it from Dr. William Bolton of the Health Department, there is a great horde of rats in the city and they are increasing rapidly and destroy much property.

One man had a rat that tangled up with some electrical equipment. The damage was $300 just for the rat.

Dr. Bolton may call for a general "sage" against the rats in the near future.

CHURCHILL PLANNING 4 POWER NAZI RULE
By JOHN A. PARRIS, JR. LONDON, Feb. 1.—(P)—Prime Minister Churchill is taking to the big three conference a plan for a four-power government for postwar control of the German Rhineland and Ruhr, an unimpeachable source said today.

The document, formulated by leaders of the European advisory commission, lays down specific terms to which Germany must conform.
The same source also said British, Russian and United States representatives have signed an "instrument of surrender" to be presented to the Germans when they capitulate.

Coal Piles Dwindle As Ohioans Shiver And Cold Hangs On

Conditions in Populous Northeast Section of State Called Severe While Governor's Investigation Brings 'No Relief In Sight' Report—People Urged to Conserve Fuel

By The Associated Press
With no break in the current cold spell expected for at least another 48 hours it appeared today Ohio's coal and natural gas shortage would grow worse before it becomes better.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche declared at Columbus he saw no relief for the situation until the weather moderated and said it was "imperative that self-restraint be imposed by the people themselves" to conserve dwindling fuel supplies.

The governor reported he found conditions severe in Cleveland, Akron, Elyria, Lorain, Canton and in the northwestern corner of the state. He told newspapermen that operators of taverns and other places of amusement "can well contemplate earlier closing."

The Solid Fuels Administration at Washington moved to divert industrial coal in transit into retail outlets to relieve emergency areas.
More Schools Close
Unpassable roads and fuel shortages combined to close approximately 370 rural schools in Ohio today, amid indications that more might be added to the list.

Highway Director Perry T. Ford said reports assembled by the State Highway Patrol and division engineers indicated that some of the schools had been shut since the Christmas vacation storms.

The director appealed to political sub-divisions for cooperation with the Highway Department in opening closed roads and in helping prepare a census of equipment and available personnel, especially mechanics and machine operators, to facilitate the work.

Ford said all rural schools were closed in Paulding, Hancock, Hardin, Shelby and Clinton counties, and that all but two were in 1945.

OHIO'S POLITICAL MYSTERY! List of Nominees for Deputy Registrars Disappears

By E. E. EASTERLY
COLUMBUS, Feb. 1.—(P)—Three questions are puzzling John Lokar, secretary to Gov. Frank J. Lausche.
Where is the list of nominees for deputy registrars of motor vehicles (they issue the auto tags and drivers' licenses) which Lokar sent to the Bureau of Motor Vehicles?

Although officials of the bureau reported they could not find the list, how come eight of the names on it appeared on a substitute list issued by the bureau?
Who is the mysterious stranger who telephoned the bureau and had it insert in another list of registrar nominees the name of a person described by the governor's office as a Toledo police character?

Lokar said George F. Wagner, bureau auditor who handled the certification of registrars, could not answer the questions.
The deputy registrar jobs are political plums eagerly sought by many party workers. The registrars receive a fee for each license they issue. Last week Governor Lausche warned that any who "kicked back" part of his fees to a political boss would be discharged immediately.

Lists of persons to be given these jobs are compiled by Lokar from recommendations sent in by Democratic chairmen and legislators, and from applications. The record of each applicant is checked by a police agency before it is forwarded to the Motor Vehicle Bureau.

The list which disappeared contained 36 names recommended for Franklin County (Columbus). Some one in the bureau confirmed by telephone its receipt.

32 BUS PASSENGERS STRANDED ON ROAD

SALEM, Feb. 1.—(P)—Thirty-two Greyhound bus passengers, including at least two small children, were marooned today on an ice-locked Columbiana County highway, where their bus skidded into a drifted roadside ditch late yesterday.

Highway patrol officers reported the passengers spent the night in the farm homes of John Conrad, William Peterson, and others whose names were not learned.
Patrolmen said 47 trucks and 15 passenger cars were stalled on the highway, one and a half miles southwest of North Benton. The trucks were either jack-knifed into ditches, or made immobile by the ice-rutted roads.

None of the bus passengers, en route from Pittsburgh to Cleveland, apparently suffered from exposure.
Patrolmen said highway department snowplows and tractors were en route to the scene to free the traffic.

Doughboys Driving Toward Manila, Pass Last Big Obstacle on Road

(By the Associated Press)
Subic Bay and its naval repair base of Olongapo, dotted with pillboxes but abandoned by the Japanese, were back in American hands today as Yank spearheads to the east rolled clear of a dangerous bottleneck passage only 28 road miles from Manila.

Tokyo also reported that American warships were apparently moving in on Corregidor, rocky fortress guarding the entrance to Manila Bay.

Well-fortified Grande Island, the "Little Corregidor" guarding the entrance to Subic Bay, was taken without opposition Tuesday by Eighth Army troops. Units of the U. S. Seventh fleet steamed into Subic Bay.

Other elements of Lt. Gen. Robert Eichelberger's Eighth Army moved by road along the rim of Subic Bay to capture the Olongapo Naval Base which, before the war, was an American depot.

DR. CLENDENING COMMITS SUICIDE

Daily Columnist Despondent Over His Health
KANSAS CITY, Feb. 1.—(P)—Dr. Logan Clendening, 60, who gave daily health hints to an estimated 50,000,000 readers in a syndicated newspaper column, became so despondent over his own failing health yesterday that he took his life.

Benton Tibbs, a detective in the homicide bureau, said Dr. Clendening had slashed his left wrist and cut his jugular vein. The body of the wealthy, witty physician was found in his shade darkened bedroom. He had told friends recently he feared he was suffering from leukemia, a disease for which there is no known cure.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 1.—(P)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche today appointed Mrs. B. F. (Maude) McQuate of Cleveland as a member of the State Liquor Control Board. She is a Republican.

Mrs. McQuate, who is the second woman to be appointed to the Liquor Control Board, will serve for four years at a salary of $4,500 annually.

Quick Shift of Troops To Jap War Is All Set

By EDWARD H. HIGGS
WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—(P)—Prospects of a speedier end of the Japanese war developed today with disclosure of a plan for a quick shift of troops from Europe to the Pacific once Germany is defeated.

MISSING for three years, Lt. Clayton Rollins, 21, of Meriden, Conn., showed up at Gen. MacArthur's headquarters on Luzon. He is the youngest American soldier to have escaped from Bataan, and has been fighting the Japs for three years as a guerrilla leader. (International)

OHIO GOVERNOR CLAMPING DOWN

Cities Told To Get Own Houses In Order First
COLUMBUS, Feb. 1.—(P)—Ohio cities were given notice today that they must reorganize their police and firemen's pension funds before they can expect financial help from the state government.

That is the position of Gov. Frank J. Lausche, expressed in a message to the legislature.
The governor cited "the unhealthy condition" of the pension funds, the failure of the municipalities to strengthen them, and said:

"In view of this, I do not believe the state would be justified now in contributing any money toward the maintenance of a structure which is so obviously unsound that it inevitably must collapse."

He recommended that the legislature set up a committee to study the pension systems and inquiry (Please Turn to Page Two)

YANKS SMASH SIEGFRIED LINE ON WEST FRONT

Offensives Squeezing Reich From Two Sides Grow in Fury as Crisis Nears
By WILLIAM L. RYAN (By the Associated Press)
The German high command said today the Red army had reached the Oder northwest of key Kustrin and 39 miles from Berlin, as Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov prepared for a mighty battle which might break German resistance before the capital.

German broadcasts said Zhukov had reached the Oder valley city of Kustrin, 41 miles east of Berlin at the confluence of the Oder on the Warthe, in "very marked superiority." The roar of Red army artillery was reported audible in Berlin as Zhukov spread out on a 70-mile front for the grand assault on the capital which Gauleiter Paul Joseph Goebbels said he was ready to launch.

Meanwhile shock troops of the First and Ninth divisions penetrated deeply into the central Siegfried line today and erased the last vestige of the bulge driven into the American First Army front before Christmas.

The First Army troops crossed the first row of Dragon Teeth tank barriers in a section of the Siegfried line never before breached.

Farther north, 37 miles of the line have been conquered by the Americans in the Aachen-Roer River sector.
Along a front of 40 miles, the American First and Third Armies struck with a vengeance into pillboxes fringing the line, which battlefield dispatches described as strangely quiet—its artillery silent and its resistance mainly from small arms. Great sections of the fortifications were under American fire.

Red planes raked the broad, straight roads connecting Kustrin with Berlin and Frankfurt, and Zhukov hurled waves of infantry and tanks into his 40-mile Frankfurt salient between the Oder and the Warthe.
Reds Close In on Berlin
Zhukov may be even closer than 39 miles to the capital, since the Oder in the area northwest of Kustrin bends westward to within 28 miles of Berlin.

Soviet correspondents said virtually all the German population of Silesia was on the move toward inner Germany. Izvestia said there was "no power in the world which is able to make a stand on the holy route of the Red army."

Both German and Russian accounts indicated the crucial battle of the Oder was near. Moscow announced the capture of Beyersdorf, 63 miles northeast of Berlin, by Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's First White Russian Army, which also took Landsberg, manufacturing and communications center 40 miles northeast of Frankfurt.

MEN FREED FROM JAP PRISON TELL OF EXPERIENCES

RANGERS' YELLS OF RESCUE STAY IN MEMORIES

Bedfast Invalid for Years Runs for Gates When Americans Open Them

By DEAN SHEDLER
GENERAL MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Luzon, Jan. 31.—(AP)—Capt. James B. Phipps, of Los Angeles, whom I last saw when he was tunnel provost marshal on Corregidor, said the "thrill of seeing green clad Rangers storm into our prison camp last night will never quite leave me."

Lt. George W. Green, Auburn, Ala., former Manila broker and reserve naval intelligence officer, said: "I was captured when the last organized American resistance ceased in 1942. They wanted to take me to Japan, but I was saved by illness."

Green got up and not only walked, but ran last night, for the first time in years, when he forgot his arthritis upon hearing American Rangers yell for all prisoners to make for the camp entrance.

Warrant Officer James Shimmel, Philadelphia, Pa., didn't have much to say but his eyes blinked with pride as he explained that he was the senior officer of 19 men of the Fourth Marine Regiment, veterans of service in the Far East.

Torpedoman Everett Dillard, Copperhill, Tenn., when asked if he was an Army prisoner or a civilian, replied firmly and quickly: "No sir, I am a member of the United States Navy."

Pvt. Walter Laverne, Sioux City, Ia., formerly with the Twentieth Air Base at Nichols Field, said: "We went through the bombing to Corregidor to sweat it out. My heart almost broke with the first burst of fire last night because I thought the Japanese had reached the end of their patience and decided to wipe us out."

"I am too happy to talk," said Pvt. Thomas Flowers, Scranton, N. C. He couldn't talk much anyway as he was tearing into his third hamburger. Flowers was a member of the 893rd Engineers.

"I have been in the Philippines 43 years," said Edward Normandy, Marlboro, Mass., a civilian employee with the Army engineers on Bataan, "but the last three years were certainly the hardest."

Sgt. Donald Smith, of Boulder, Colo., said he had been "living on rice and Cojan grass soup so long that I can't get over the new-fangled package rations."

Lt. Cecil H. Hay, Houston, Tex., who was with the 31st Infantry on Bataan, said: "I never forgot Texas and I didn't let any of the other boys forget it." Hay was too interested in food at the moment to explain how he kept Texas to the fore.

Lt. Com. H. A. Erickson, Los Angeles, Calif., still proudly wearing his battered, anchored naval cap, was at the Cavite naval base when Japanese bombers came over December 12, 1941.

"We took a direct hit on the station which killed 25 persons," he said. "I was taken to Bilibid prison where I worked with 50 sick and wounded officers before being transferred to Cabanatuan."

When the original Japanese garrison left Cabanatuan after removal of some 1,600 American prisoners they left Col. James W. Duckworth, San Francisco, senior American war prisoner on Luzon, in charge of the camp.

Col. Duckworth had been caring for American prisoners since Bataan, where he commanded Hospital No. 1 at "Little Baguio."

"After the surrender of Bataan," Col. Duckworth said, "Japanese came to my hospital and asked me to see wounded Japanese soldiers. When they saw we were treating the enemy the same as our own men they posted a sign giving us immunity from molestation."

Not only were they untroubled in the hospital camp, said Duckworth, but his medical corpsmen and doctors were permitted to search Bataan for food supplies unaccompanied by guards.

When the death rate at Camp O'Donnell reached an astounding rate, Duckworth said "they sent for me and my staff and allowed us to take 68 truckloads of supplies to the O'Donnell camp hospital."

Duckworth said he found 150 Americans at O'Donnell whose conditions seemed hopeless but "we saved 50." Before Duckworth's staff and supplies reached O'Donnell the daily death rate

Mrs. W. W. Humphries is in White Cross Hospital, Columbus, recovering from a major operation performed Wednesday morning. She is reported to be getting along fine.

The latest word from Mr. W. Shoop who underwent an eye operation in the Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Md., recently, indicates that he is getting along as well as could be expected.

Mrs. Florence Grady, of 627 Delaware Street, fell in the alley near Dr. Limes' office on South Fayette Street Thursday morning, sustaining painful injuries. She is confined to her home with a badly sprained right ankle.

Miss Betty Sherman of Madison Mills has accepted the position of office girl in the office of Dr. W. H. Limes, replacing Miss Jane Durnell who left recently to join the Cadet Nurses' Training in Cincinnati. Miss Sherman will begin her duties on Monday.

there was alarming. A few months later the rate dropped to two or three monthly.

Duckworth paid tribute to the tireless devotion of his 18 doctors and 40 medical corpsmen, many of whom he said should have been hospitalized themselves.

Duckworth recalled the work of Capt. Ralph Hibbs, Oskaloosa, Ia., battalion surgeon of the 31st Infantry. Another doctor who was ill himself then, and "even on our rescue work last night worked tirelessly over the sick," was Maj. Ralph Hubbard, of Oklahoma City.

Hubbard carried on the traditions of his family—his father and brothers are doctors—from the time he was in the 6,000 patient hospital on Bataan until today.

Duckworth broke his left arm at the start of the war. He is ending his immediate duty the same way, as he slipped last night during the dash for safety and broke the other arm.

Among the rescued prisoners was Capt. Ted Amos, of Humboldt, Kas. "I was taken from Corregidor in a small boat and forced to swim the last several hundred yards," he related. "From Bilibid prison I was moved to the Davao penal colony and then to Cabanatuan last June."

"I am floating on clouds," said Lt. Earl Baumgardner, Yonkers, N. Y., former manager for Radio Corporation of America in Manila. "If you don't think these are the happiest five hundred men on earth you are crazy. They want to go to Manila with the liberating forces before returning to the United States."

Capt. David Yates, of Hammon, N. C., said: "My wife is a WAC and the Rangers told me there are some WACs in the Philippines. So how do I go about finding out if she is here?" The Red Cross assured Yates it would check the whereabouts of his wife.

COLDEST NIGHT OF THE WINTER RECORDED HERE

Mercury Reaches 3 Below Zero and Maximum Is Unusually Low

Wednesday night was the coldest of the winter to-date, according to Observer Chalmers Burns, who reported the low for the night was 3 below zero.

At 9 P. M. Wednesday night the reading was 4 above zero and at 8 A. M. Thursday the reading was 3 above zero.

Wednesday's maximum was 20 degrees, and the maximum was expected to hang around the lower twenties.

No immediate relief was in sight, it was indicated Thursday forenoon, and as a result a great deal of apprehension has resulted among families who are short of coal and see no relief for several days.

Schools reopened Thursday. Some of the rural and village but attendance was light, due to the intense cold and the fact that some pupils could not be reached by buses.

Frank Ellsworth, of Long Beach, Calif., another civilian engineer, said: "I will certainly believe in lucky numbers. My son's birthday was yesterday. I landed in the Philippines on my other boy's birthday and my own is May 6—the day Corregidor fell."

Lt. Seaton Foley, San Francisco, an engineer who joined the Army in the Philippines, said that when the Japanese "came to take us from Manila Bay most of us were too weary from bombing and shelling to think much of the future. I lost a lot of weight from sickness but I am ready for anything now."

Among the rescued men was Capt. R. E. Roseveare, former manager of the Manila office of the Goodrich Rubber Co., who was commissioned at the outbreak of the war.

Lt. W. D. Gibson, Stamford, Conn., technical engineer with the original Voice of Freedom station on Corregidor, with the aid of Lt. Frank Burgess of San Diego, Calif., built a one-tube radio out of old scrap such as a tooth paste tube packed with acids for batteries.

"On that set," he said, "we picked up news from the outside world, typed it out on Japanese stationery and circulated the news sheet about the camp."

"The Japanese fumed over the news but they finally gave up the search for its source. Burgess and I were actually listening when the Rangers stormed the camp."

Two other factors figured in the adoption of the plan: A scarcity of shipping to handle the tons and tons of equipment; and the war against Japan is moving along months ahead of schedule while the European war is lagging, narrowing the time available to shift European forces to achieve the greatest benefit from their use in the Pacific.

Trucks, construction equipment and perishable goods presumably would be left behind and could be used in the rehabilitation of France, Italy, Belgium and Holland.

Former Resident Recently Entered Plea

A federal grand jury in Columbus failed to return indictments Wednesday after an investigation of reports that "manufacturers of gambling devices in Franklin County were being permitted to use high priority materials by officials of the War Production Board."

Federal Judge Mell G. Underwood ordered the probe after hearing the case of Robert H. Warner, head of the Buckeye Vending Machine Co., Inc., formerly of Jeffersonville, who, according to press reports from Columbus, pleaded guilty to charges that he and the company used war materials in the manufacture of slot machines.

against them, already has been described by War Secretary Stimson as ahead of schedule.

The plan will add to war costs, require a continuation of a high rate of production and postpone the day of reconversion.

On the other hand, it would mean the savings of perhaps thousands of lives that might otherwise be lost in a prolonged campaign.

Two other factors figured in the adoption of the plan: A scarcity of shipping to handle the tons and tons of equipment; and the war against Japan is moving along months ahead of schedule while the European war is lagging, narrowing the time available to shift European forces to achieve the greatest benefit from their use in the Pacific.

SCHOOLS GIVE $141 TO POLIO APPEAL HERE

Collections of Nickels and Dimes Mount Up; Money Turned In

The March of Dimes appeal didn't slip by unnoticed in the city schools.

Students in all six of the schools brought dimes and pennies and nickels to school in such quantities that the bulging bag turned in to Paul Van Voorhis, chairman of the appeal, held $141.15.

A. B. Murray, superintendent of city schools, said Thursday the money was collected at the individual schools, turned in to him, and then given to Van Voorhis Wednesday afternoon, the last day of the official drive here.

Contributions by schools are: High School, $35.74; Sunnyside, $39.58; Eastside, $18.25; Central, $19.61; Rose Avenue, $11.44 and Cherry Hill, $16.53.

He pointed out that some policemen and firemen were being retired as young as 41 years while in perfect health.

The legislature wound up the first month of its session today with only one enactment—the partial appropriation bill rushed through in the first week.

The House members have gone home for the week end, but the Senate remained in session to receive a few more bills and to hold committee meetings.

Two Explosions, Blazes Come Within 24 Hours

CLEVELAND, Feb. 1.—(AP)—An explosion and fire which last night struck the $2,000,000 Benzol plant of the Corriggan-McKinney Division of the Republic Steel Corp. for the second time within 24 hours boosted the estimated damage total past the $500,000 mark.

A company spokesman said damage might run from $500,000 to $1,000,000 and added that 2,000 tons of steel ingots and great quantities of benzol already had been lost to the war effort through interference with production or fire damage.

No one was injured in either of the two explosions and fires.

NURSING HOME TRAGEDY TO BE INVESTIGATED

AUBURN, Me., Feb. 1.—(AP)—Maine officials began investigations today to determine cause of a fire which snuffed out the lives of 16 children and a nurse in a privately-owned boarding home.

As state and local officials met in closed session, hundreds of townsfolk assembled to pay final homage to the first of the children to be buried.

One investigation was launched by Harry O. Page, state commissioner of health and welfare who said he could not "understand the great loss of life."

WILMINGTON POLIO VICTIM FLOWN TO WARM SPRINGS IN ARMY TRANSPORT PLANE

WILMINGTON, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Robert Hadley, 42-year-old Wilmington lumber dealer, today was a patient at the infantile paralysis center at Warm Springs, Ga.

Seriously ill with the disease, he was flown there yesterday in an army transport plane, from Wright Field, accompanied by Capt. George M. Wilcoxon, flight surgeon.

The emergency flight was arranged by Lt. Col. Charles H. Craig, base commandant. Hadley had been a patient at Miami Valley Hospital in Dayton since Oct. 31.

His son, Charles, 7, stricken with the disease last fall, was able to walk Christmas day.

GEORGIA'S $1 POLL TAX WIPED OUT BY SOLONS

ATLANTA, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Both branches of the Georgia legislature have voted overwhelmingly for repeal of the state's $1 a year poll tax and only acceptance by the Senate of a substitute House bill remains before the levy is wiped out.

Senate leaders said they had no objection to bill the House passed yesterday 141 to 51.

Learning on the Job
Young people leaving school for work are truly losing great opportunities. The riches of the world's knowledge are too often thrown away for a chance to earn a few easy dollars, while too young to appreciate either the power of learning or what might be done with the dollars to make life better.
On the other hand, one going into a modern factory, plant or store has a chance to acquire much useful education. Wonderful machinery can give him a respect for the inventor—for the mind and education which made the invention possible. He can learn respect for discipline and teamwork. If one part fails, the whole machine must stop until repaired. He can learn from this the importance of one humble part in a community.
The wide student in plant or store learns the value of punctuality, of cleanliness in man and machine, of good craftsmanship, of an even rhythm in living as well as working. He can learn much physics, chemistry, engineering, because here he sees applied the principles he started to learn about in school. From older men he can get much of the history of his industry or business. He can learn the immense, immeasurable value of being dependable.
Only weeklings loaf and spend all their money. Those who aim to be the strong, useful citizens of tomorrow will be first to square in work, and will learn all they can every day. They will not waste months. They will go back to school for more education, and with better preparation for getting the most out of their schooling.

Storm Signals
Farmers "are warily watching the economic weathercock for signs of a postwar recession storm," says Ray Anderson in the Farm Journal, "and they are taking three hard looks in political promises of success. A few are counting on what the government may do, or what schemes industry and labor may come up with. They are taking their faith in themselves, and their desire to get in shape now for whatever the future may have in store."
The growing attitude is in a large measure the result of the helplessness too many farmers feel under farm subsidy programs which are ostensibly to hold the cost of living, but which, in the long run, make the farmer depend on government as the costs of production advance and the subsidies which the farmer accepts in lieu of the true production of his crops, are added to the growing burden of the nation.
Farmers are smart enough to know that the process is but a makeshift, and that sooner or later it will leave them high and dry, unless they will become merely farm tenants of the government with their incomes entirely subject to political manipulation.
There Is No Benevolent Despotism
The chances of getting our labor laws amended at present so as to make them better for labor, industry and the public, seem hopeless. Instead of creating labor harmony, our laws have pitted labor against industry, when as a matter of fact, labor and industry are as dependent on each other as the heart and the stomach.

So-called "labor laws" are as much a misnomer as would be the term "industry laws." Law is law, and it should apply to all alike. One of the menaces to future democracy in this nation are pressure groups which claim to control blocs of votes and, with this as a club, intimidate lawmakers into passing class legislation.
Members of Congress are interested in preserving the liberty of all labor and all the people, rather than in building up leaders who have shown their defiance of government and our armed forces by their repeated disregard of no-strike pledges, and the earnest pleas for uninterrupted production.
The American working man is now controlled by what may at first seem to be a benevolent labor despotism, which perhaps temporarily gives special groups advantages. But this despotism is becoming an evil force that is destroying the independence of American labor. As the Reverend Norman Vincent Peale, D.D., says, wage earners are being used to "furnish subservient backs upon which ambitious men may climb to power over their fellows."
Planning is necessary, but too many people are planning things in too many ways.
Would people stand in line for church as they have been doing for cigarettes?

Diet and Health
Returning Veteran
By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.
THE MOST important problem for the American people, for the next ten years, at least, is essentially a medical one. It is the adjustment of members of the armed forces to normal American life.
Even for the person who has not been wounded, or even had any nervous shock or fatigue from combat, the adjustment is going to be very difficult and gradual in the majority of instances.
A fellow who has been away from every normal home influence, very much on his own much of the time, subject to exact discipline the rest of the time, occasionally under gunfire, and in a strange country, is going to have quite a time settling in a small town in America and quietly going to work every morning in a hardware store.
Problems of Adjustment
These problems of adjustment are wisely considered by Dr. George K. Pratt, Psychiatric Examiner, U. S. Armed Forces, New Haven, Conn., in a recently published book "Soldier To Civilian" (published by Whittlesey House New York).
With the frankly mental disease cases of returned men I will not deal here. There are many men inducted into service who are found to be mentally deficient, or others, who, under the strain of war conditions, develop personality disorders and neuroses—what used to be called shell shock, now perhaps designated combat fatigue, which sometimes cures itself in a few days, sometimes remains more or less permanently.
Those must be dealt with through the regular medical rehabilitation methods of the Army and Navy.
A Case History
What interests me more is such a case as that recited by Dr. Pratt of a man, Lieutenant Fred W. He lived before the war in a small Ohio town, had graduated from High School, gone to work in a local plant and was about twenty years old when the war came along.
He entered officer training camp for the Air Force, got his wings and married a girl he had been going with for about a year. She was an average small town girl, and left alone they would have developed into an average small town couple—perfectly happy with limited interests.
But Fred shipped abroad, met in England groups of people who discussed books, music and international affairs with a familiarity which opened new vistas to him.

He was wounded and sent home, and went back to his old job in the factory. But before long he was deeply dissatisfied. He missed the glamour of flying. He made comparisons between the small town people who used to be his friends and the people he had met abroad. He had met a number of attractive women abroad and his wife Martha didn't measure up to them.
Fortunately Martha was a sensible girl who found that something was the matter with Fred, and talked it all out with him so that he got adjusted to normal American life.
But there are going to be thousands of boys who will not have such good wives and for whom the adjustment will not be made.
For these men (and women too, because the WACs and the WAVES, etc., have had a taste of a new life) it is most important that every city and village in our land have some sort of community services for returnees, to guide and coordinate and adjust their viewpoints after their return and discharge. Such services are now being planned by the National Committee on Service to Veterans and the National Social Work Council. It behooves every American community to get in touch with them.
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
V. V.—What should be the care of bunions? I have been wearing special shoes. I walk eleven blocks to and from work a day. Is this harmful? Is surgery indicated?
Answer: Good shoes and protective pads help bunions in the early stage and tend to prevent complications. Walking certainly does bunions no good. Surgery is indicated in severe forms. Only the surgeon can decide when.
H. H. W.—What causes "milk leg," what is the best remedy, and how long does it last?
Answer: "Milk leg" is inflammation of the veins of the leg causing a clot to form. It is likely to occur during pregnancy on account of pressure on those veins, or in appendicitis, or any pelvic inflammation. The best remedies are heat and rest. The acute phase lasts about two weeks, but the leg may be troublesome for some time.
M. B.—Before the freeze I bought two bicycles. It took me two years to learn to ride one of them. I am 47. Is bicycling bad for the heart?
Answer: No. At the age of 47 if not done too hard or too long I should say it is good for the heart.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN
Aggie left the house a few minutes later. He carried his bathing suit—not just trunk, but a jersey also—in a waterproof satchel. The men and women of Indian Stones had adopted tropical winter fashions for summer wear: shorts of a Tahitian pattern for the former, and for the latter, quite similar shorts, and bras. They wore slacks suits in the daytime; at night the men had commenced to try dinner jackets in a variety of pastel colors. This conventionality of unconvention was one which Aggie did not remotely understand. He was dressed then, as always, primarily for comfort.
His appearance at the boathouse was thus another occasion for mirth at his expense. He came down the tree-roofed road, bobbling contentedly, in worn moccasins, khaki trousers, a faded blue jumper-shirt, and a pith helmet—the last because of the hot sunshine. Less for jauntiness than from a long-standing field habit, he wore a scarlet bandanna around his neck. All this, taken together with his beard, his flashing black eyes, and his knee-bent, forward-leaning gait, made him look outlandish.
Beth, who caught sight of him first, struck the precise note when she called, "Dr. Livingstone, I presume?"
People lying on the dock on air mattresses, people floating on them in the water, people on the imported sand, and in boats, looked at Aggie and broke into laughter. The recent nervous strain they'd undergone made that laughter unduly vehement. Aggie turned red to the roots of his hair. He pushed ahead, as if against tangible resistance, through the crowd and into the Plum family locker. He undressed. With a grimace of determination, he decided to eschew the jersey. He came out in blue trunks.
Beth had been waiting for him, maliciously. "We're going to initiate you into the Indian Stones free-style swimming and poker," she began. Then she stopped.
Some men who seem powerful in their clothes are male caricatures in a bathing suit. Others, are the opposite, and Agamemnon Telemachus Plum was such a person. His shoulders sloped steeply and his chest seemed rounded. Dressed, he gave the impression of being a little bit underweight. Undressed, he was revealed as a man knotted with lean muscle, a man with the build of an acrobat, a man of visible, formidable strength. His loose-jointed way of walking became graceful, almost sinister, like the sleek, precise movements of a big cat. It dawned upon everybody that Aggie, at perhaps a hundred and sixty pounds and five feet nine and a half, was, as Beth later said, "dynamite in the physical culture department."
Aggie knew that the sight of the man who subtended the professional clothing was creating a sensation, but the knowledge did not remove his blush. He had wanted to join the people and swim with them. Now, he wanted to get away. There were several canoes lying bottom up on a slide beside the dock. Aggie looked at them. "I wonder if I could borrow somebody's...?" His voice trailed off.

"Take mine, Aggie," Ralph Patton said. "The blue one. How'd you get that brown, boy?"
Aggie answered, "Thanks, Ralph," and no more.
They all watched him. They couldn't take their eyes away. His appearance was dramatic, very nearly appalling, in view of their previous ideas about him. He turned the canoe over and slid it into the water. He picked up a paddle. He stepped lightly aboard, dropped to one knee just forward of the stern seat, and dipped his paddle. The canoe came to life. It flew in the water. Five strokes took him out of earshot and twenty out of sight, around the first of several small islands.
"Good Lord!" Ralph exclaimed. "Did you ever see anything like that?"
Beth was sitting quite still, staring at the widening wake. She pulled off her bathing cap and shook her black hair in the sunlight. "We've got that little guy all wrong," she said. "He's dangerous." Mrs. Drayman agreed—in a way. "He isn't little, even."
Beth went on talking, as if to herself: "No. Not little. Not anything like what I thought. I wonder how he learned to paddle like that?"
Wes Wickman, the state trooper, who had read one of Aggie's books at college, could have given a partial answer. Aggie had learned it scull-hunting in kayaks, pushing dugouts into the Everglades and up the reaches of the Amazon, and raging through Alaskan white water in canoes like the one that had just vanished.
Jack Browne, off duty for the moment, lay back on the sand and said somewhat jealously—inasmuch as he had been an athlete, "One of those outdoor guys! Turn up their noses at tennis—spend a month trying to get a snapshot of a tilagaloobird on her nest! No wonder he was so interested in the dead-fall. Could have built it himself!"
Beth whirled. "That's no kind of thing to say! So could you! You're no slouch in the outdoors, yourself! So could I! I was Deerfoot, in the Girl Pioneers. I can pitch tents and make smoke signals. He's wonderful—and you're just envious!"
Jack chuckled. "Darned if I'm not! I think I'll have to get the professor to give me some lessons in paddling. He's gone after Danielle, I guess."
Beth stared at Jack. "I don't get it." "Before you came along—Dan-

Look Before You Leap, Airborne Maxim
Second Of A Series
By HERMAN R. ALLEN
LAURINBURG - MAXTON FIELD, N. C. — All around us, pulled under the trees so the moonlight would not glint on their wings, stood the shadowy gliders. They had been cut loose from their towplanes late in the afternoon. The airborne troops had sprung out, concealed the gliders and fanned out into the woods.
The airborne troops in this case were advanced student glider pilots taking a course in military training. As we trudged down the muddy road in dungarees, overshoes and fiber helmet "liners," Col. E. P. Curry, commanding officer of the Troop Carrier Command base here, explained:
"There are several hundred gliders in an airborne division. That makes pilots and co-pilots a sizable body of men. We're teaching them to use hand weapons to help out with the fighting while they're waiting for the tow planes to come back and return them to their base."
Maj. Robert W. Williams was the airborne commander. He's enthusiastic about airborne warfare, says its possibilities are limited only by the imagination.
"Use airborne in connection with amphibious forces," he said, "and I'll bet we could take Japan!"
The major and his staff and headquarters troops had "parachuted" into the drop area by truck that afternoon at 5 o'clock. A half-hour later two "serals" of five planes, each towing two gliders, appeared. The gliders cut loose, landed at assigned spots without a single accident.
Perimeter Defense
Quickly, as dark fell, the troops established a "perimeter defense." This perimeter defense is an important thing in airborne warfare. It is a rifle, machine gun and mortar ring around the "airhead." It is maintained in a constantly widening circle as the airhead expands.
Next day the tow planes were to come back to drop "parapacks" of supplies and pull the gliders out by the spectacular "pick-up" method.
In a real operation of this near-commando type, light engineering equipment would be landed by glider, and an airstrip cut out. Then C-17 transport planes could come in with heavy guns and light tanks. (Parachutists can bring in the 75-mm pack howitzer, broken up into several pieces, and the new CG-10 glider can carry a 155-mm howitzer.)
If the operation were on the grand "development" scale now envisioned by some airborne warfare planners, however, things would not stop there. Heavier planes would land with even heavier engineering equipment after the first airstrip had been cut out.
At nearby Camp Mackall, I talked with Col. J. T. Dalbey, commanding officer of the Airborne Center, where ground troops are trained for deployment by glider and parachute. Col. Dalbey gave me some ideas about how airborne troops should be used.
For Strategic Use Only
"To begin with," he said, "airborne forces must be attached to headquarters of the theater commander, to be used strategically—not thrown into battle at random by lower headquarters.

"Ordinarily (he was speaking here of the semi-commando type of operation) they should be dropped only as far in advance as ground troops will be able to penetrate in three to five days. When the ground troops catch up they should be pulled out."
Another principle which Col. Dalbey set out was this: Airborne troops should never be used when the job can be done any other way. The cost in time and planning is too great. And when they are used they should be used in overwhelming force, with success assured as nearly as possible.
"The common idea," he said, "is that parachutists and glider men are 'suicide troops.' We don't agree with that. If it looks like a suicide job, we won't do it."

Mrs. Gidding Is Hostess to Club Wednesday Eve

Mrs. Earl Gidding, always a charming and generous hostess, entertained the members of her two table Tuesday bridge club Wednesday evening for dinner and bridge at her attractive home.

For the excellent dinner the guests were seated at a perfectly appointed table in the dining room, beautifully centered with a handsome five branch candelabra surrounded by spring flowers. Congenial visiting pervaded the dinner hour and pivot contract bridge game throughout the evening, as the guests enjoyed the many hospitalities of the adept hostess.

Mrs. Colin C. Campbell was the prize winner with high score at the close of the game.

Mary Wood Feted Wednesday Eve At Farewell Party

Complimenting Miss Mary Elizabeth Wood who plans to leave Saturday morning for Texas State Teachers' College, Denton, Texas, where she will teach while working for her master's degree, Miss Mary Jane Townsley entertained a group of friends at a waffle supper, Wednesday evening.

Yellow, green and white were the colors used in the decorations and appointments of the dining room table where the guests found their places. Yellow candelabras entwined with ivy decorated the table and place cards suggesting a western theme marked each guest's place. Mrs. Harry Townsley assisted her granddaughter in the hospitalities of the evening.

Miss Wood's absence will be keenly felt among her many friends and colleagues in the High School and community where she has taken an especially prominent part in musical, church, and social activities. Her coming departure calls forth the well wishes and felicitations of all those with whom she has been associated.

Those enjoying the affair with the honoree and hostess were Miss Mary Elizabeth Browning, Miss Clara Belle Robinson, Mrs. Gwendolyn West and Miss Lorie Merritt.

Three Girls from Here Pledged to Delta Gamma

Miss Virginia Craig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Craig, 403 Rawling Street, and a freshman in the college of liberal arts at Denison University, Granville, has been pledged and then initiated into Delta Gamma sorority, according to a news bureau release from the university staff.

Miss Craig, a member of the graduating class from Washington C. H. High School in 1944, in addition to other curricular activities, was chosen captain of the freshman hockey team at the university.

Miss Judith Paul, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Rankin Paul, was pledged to Delta Gamma sorority in September when she entered Miami University, Oxford, as a freshman in the college of fine arts.

However, at Miami University, pledges are placed on probation for one year and initiation ceremonies will be held next fall, according to chapter rules of that university.

At Ohio State, pledges are not taken into the sorority before spring and sometimes as late as fall, it was reported. Until that time, all pledges are on probation.

Potluck Supper Held in Honor Of New Members

The covered dish supper held Wednesday evening in the basement of the First Presbyterian Church was well attended and provided a most enjoyable evening for the eighty members and their friends who were present.

The delicious and appetizing supper, served buffet style, was under the auspices of the Women's Guild and was entertained in special honor of the twenty new members who have been added this past year to the membership roll of the church.

After supper Mr. Kenneth Craig led the group in a number of interesting and informal games which provided good fun and an air of congenial mingling for the large group. A splendid program followed, which was in charge of Mrs. A. B. Murray, and was composed of well diversified and pleasing musical numbers. The High School Trio, Miss Doris Brandenburg, Miss June Cook and Miss Janice Murray, sang two very pretty songs, well adapted to their finely blended voices, and also gave a humorous recitation, "The Three Old Maids." Mrs. Olive Icenhower contributed a lovely rendition of the song "All Through The Night" in warm, rich voice, and also led the group in singing old time songs. Mrs. Marion Gage was a splendid accompanist throughout the program.

The committee of the Women's Guild who made the plans for the delightful evening were: Mrs. Frank Cox, chairman, Mrs. G. C. Kidner, Mrs. G. E. Bidwell, Mrs. Maryon Mark, Mrs. M. J. Whitfield, Mrs. F. D. Woollard, Mrs. Logan Buzick, Mrs. C. V. Sexton, Mrs. Charles Gage.

513 CAPTIVES OF JAPS SINCE BATAAN FELL ARE FREED IN DARING RESCUE

Filipinos in the Guerrilla unit, left American lines under protection of air cover and reached the prison camp without detection.

Their attack caught the guards completely by surprise. The Japanese struck back violently as the rescue column headed back toward the Sixth Ranger camp and freedom for the valiant men who had been at the mercy of Japanese guards for nearly three years.

The heavy, disproportionate Japanese losses were inflicted in battering down these tank-led attacks.

The Commando raid, ordered on short notice when intelligence reports disclosed the whereabouts of the camp, was such a success that General MacArthur decorated every man in the force.

The lean rugged captives received the homage of thousands of American soldiers now fighting to redeem the islands for which the veterans fought so valiantly and hopelessly.

The youthful GIs formed an impromptu honor guard, flanking a military highway down which the rescue party passed after it returned to American lines.

It was the last of many marches for the rescued men—marches which began with the brutal "Death March of Bataan."

The freed men showed their happiness, despite their sores and ulcers, wasted bodies and ragged clothes.

Some looked helplessly up from litters. Others were proudly erect. There were old men with grey hair and dazed, sunken eyes. Some were surprisingly young and almost at their normal weight. Others were limped from beri-beri.

Their shirts were tattered. Shorts were patched and repatched. Several officers still wore their emblem of rank. They were battered through Feb. 28, stamp 35 becomes valid for five pounds Feb. 1 and expires June 2.

Gasoline, Tires and fuel oil unchanged.

Shoes—Book Three airplane stamps 1, 2 and 3 valid indefinitely; OPA says no plans to cancel any.

Gasoline—14-A coupons valid everywhere for four gallons through March 21. B-5, C-5, B-6 and C-6 coupons good everywhere for five gallons each.

Fuel Oil—Old period four and five and new period one, two and three coupons valid in all areas throughout the current heating year.

Tires—Inspection of passenger car tires not necessary unless applying for new tires. Commercial vehicle tire inspections due every six months or every 5000 miles, whichever is first.

Liquor (Ohio)—New ration period expires Feb. 17. Ration unit is one quart, one fifth or two pints of whisky per card. All other spirits unrationed.

Helen Slavens Appointed Head Of Artistic Work

State Emblem Chairman, Miss Helen Slavens, prominent member of the Business and Professional Women's Club of this city, has been appointed chairman of all artistic work to be done on the club's scrapbook of publicity.

Having entered a state-wide contest, the judging of the books will be made in the spring at the state convention by widely known newspapermen and women, it was said.

Based on the artistic arrangements of publicity, the quantity and quality, the club here is entered in the competition.

D. H. Devins, Sr., is chairman of the publicity committee and Mrs. Marguerite Powell will supervise the members assembling the material.

The books will be placed on exhibition when the convention is held this spring at Columbus.

Rationing Sidelights

EDITOR'S NOTE: Realizing that it is impossible to cover the complete field of rationing and price control in the regular news stories, the Record-Herald will publish some sidelights on this complex and comprehensive government wartime program from time to time as warranted. The facts and figures will be obtained from the county's War Price and Rationing Board.)

Meats, etc.—Book four, red stamps Q-5, R-5 and S-5 valid for 10 points through March 31. T-5 through X-5 valid through April 28. Y-5, Z-5, A-2, B-2 and C-2 and D-2 valid through June 2.

Processed Foods—Blue stamps X-5, Y-5, Z-5, A-2 and B-2 valid for 10 points through March 31. C-2 through G-2 valid through April 28. H-2 through M-2 become valid Feb. 1 and expire June 2.

Sugar—Stamp 34 good for five tered campaign hats, overseas caps and one pre-war type helmet.

Their sentiment was expressed by Capt. James B. Prippe, Los Angeles, former provost marshal on Corregidor. He said:

"The thrill of seeing those green clad Rangers storm into the prison camp last night will never quite leave me."

THE CITY'S FINEST COMPLETE FOOD MARKET

MOVE DISTRICT HEADQUARTERS OF PIPE LINES

This City Selected and a Dozen Men Will Operate Out of Here

For nearly two years great quantities of crude oil and gasoline have been flowing steadily across Fayette County and the remainder of the long distance from the Texas oil fields to the East Coast, as one of the wartime measures adopted to help win the war and bring the East Coast closer to the producing areas.

Since settlement for damages was made with the landowners and the course of the "big inch" and "little inch" has been farmed over, very little has been heard about the two longest oil and gasoline pipelines in the world. However, it requires upward of 1,500 persons to keep the big pipe lines operating, exclusive of the plants at both ends of the lines and a dozen men, under the direction of Joe Ater, are on the job in the local district, for maintenance purposes and headquarters, including garage for several motor vehicles, is now being located here for the district between Lebanon and some point in eastern Ohio.

General headquarters for a long span of the lines is in Hamilton. Constant patrolling of the lines is necessary, and a careful watch is kept on the pressure gages at the various pumping stations to detect any major break that might occur.

Tremendous pressure is exerted to move the oil and gasoline forward from station to station. The stations are about 60 miles apart. At the present time Ed Earles is line walker in this area and follows the lines every day, regardless of weather, watching for an indication of a break.

Each of the two lines, one of which is 24 inches in diameter and the other 20 inches in diameter, carries approximately 300,000 barrels of fluid daily.

start at once for home and West Point. The runner returned with this message from company headquarters: "Corporal Blank was killed in action at Trois Ponts, Belgium." The telegram had come five days too late.

Any good battlefield commander prizes the regard of his men above any recognition higher quarters can bestow. Capt. Earl E. Ehly, former Philadelphia physical education instructor, treasures a letter written by a wounded man in his company to the commander of the 517th parachute combat team. "Dear Sir," the letter said, "I am in a hospital now with a fractured skull. Being an enlisted man under your command I would like to bring to your attention the kind of officer you have under your command."

"The officer I am referring to is Capt. Earl E. Ehly. Here were his actions while we were engaging the enemy at Soy, Luxembourg. We were advancing against a heavy concentration of small arms fire, mortar fire and 240-millimeter artillery fire. Capt. Ehly was hit in the leg, and as I started to help him, an artillery shell of the 240-millimeter kind fell between us wounding about six more men. Capt. Ehly, neglecting his wounds and the mortar fire, crawled to me and gave me first aid treatment and words of encouragement. I wrote this letter of my own free will."

The letter was signed with an enlisted man's name. The letter—which means more to Ehly than the hero's ribbons he wears on his left pocket—didn't add what the boys who patched up wounded at the aid station remember. Capt. Ehly wouldn't permit them to give him blood plasma until he was personally shown that the supply on hand was sufficient for all his wounded men.

AFTER 10 WEEKS of action in Greenland, U. S. Coastguardmen stationed there wiped out two German radio weather stations, sunk one armed trawler and rounded up 60 Nazi prisoners. The last Nazi radio station was seized, top photo, without the coastguardmen firing a shot. Later, the Nazi trawler was found scuttled and eight officers and 20 enlisted men were captured. The men who figured in the capture and sinking of the trawler are shown in the photo below.

Army Air Forces
conducts Jungle
Survival Course
On Florida Isle

By HENRY C. NICHOLAS
Central Press Correspondent

PALM BEACH, Fla.—There is an island south of Palm Beach which the Seminole Indians named Hypoluxo, meaning "almost perfect," which it is not.

This island is just far south enough to have good tropical and semi-tropical vegetation similar to that found on the islands in the south seas. It also boasts of a variety of insects more fierce than any found in the South Pacific.

Here the Army Air Forces conduct a jungle survival course, which is about the toughest training given any body of our men in our armed forces.

Once a month a class of from 15 to 50 airmen, who are being trained to become flight emergency officers, are landed on Hypoluxo and given a good workout on how to survive in a tropical jungle.

These student officers land on the island wearing their flying clothes and carry equipment which consists of a machete, web belt, canteen, insect repellent and mosquito net.

They also have the parachute, in which they are supposed to have floated down from the skies, and enough pemmican to supply them with two meals the first day. Beyond this they are required to live on what they are taught to forage off the land.

First Days Toughest

The graduates of this jungle survival course say that the first few days are the toughest, particularly if there happens to be a heavy tropical storm before they have constructed their shelters.

These shelters are made from the leaves of the cabbage palm, which when laid from bottom to top in shingle fashion make a waterproof home. The parachute proves to be one of the most useful items the flyer has, even after he has completed his jump.

Part of it becomes a hammock, another strip may be stretched across the top to provide shade or serve as a mosquito bar, and other portions used to improvise traps, provide clothing or to catch water.

The latter is of vital importance as the only source of fresh water on Hypoluxo other than rain is that found in sand banks and coral reefs. This is also true of many islands in the south seas.

One of the first things taught these student officers, even before they begin foraging for food, is how to shave without a razor. This is accomplished with sea shells or a sliver of bamboo.

PALM HEART not only provides an excellent salad but is a delicacy.

PIGWEE tastes like stringbeans

Shaving serves another purpose besides the keeping up of appearances, as it is important to keep beards short as possible because they provide a good nesting place for bugs and all kinds of irritating fungi.
The students are taught where to look for food, to identify vegetation and what to look for, and how to prepare it. They cook in improvised containers and boil the food in sea water. Before this 60-

SEA URCHIN gonads taste something like caviar. THE YUCCA and other jungle flowers are edible.

MORE MONEY IN PROSPECT FOR SCHOOLS HERE

Two Bills Now Pending in Legislature Provide for Increase in Funds

More money for running the schools of Washington C. H. and Fayette County today was in prospect, but how much and when remained uncertain with the future admittedly confused and cluttered with "ifs."

The first of the several "ifs" is in the hands of the state Legislature where two fund-dispersing bills are pending.

Superintendent W. J. Hilty of the county schools and A. B. Murray of the city schools already are studying both measures and figuring approximate benefits as they watch their progress in the General Assembly.

At the same time, they are deducting mentally the money which came to the schools last fall through an appropriation by a special session of the state legislature from the funds which would be channeled here if the bills are passed. They deduct that money, they explained, to determine the actual dollars and cents increase which the bills would bring in school funds. The county schools received $14,000 and the city schools, $13,000 last fall. Both systems applied the money to school employees' salaries.

The Daniel-Cramer senate bill offered by Sen. Albert Daniels of Greenfield who represents this district, asks for $4,899,000 for Ohio's schools. Of that, around $18,790 would come to the city school system and $25,398.10 to the county school system—a permanent boost for the school revenues—Murray and Hilty figure.

They explained the Daniels' bill is an effort to increase the school foundation program. It was pointed out the foundation program was established in 1935. Since then, they say, the cost of school operation has risen 38 percent but the foundation support has not increased. The added money provided by the Daniels' bill would not mean that levies already on schools would be abolished but it would mean no additional taxation, for the $4,899,000 asked would come from the $18,000,000 unspent in the state tax coffers, the superintendents said.

Even with subtracting the special session's appropriation, the Daniels' Bill would bring more money to the schools, it was pointed out.

The Tarr House Bill, it is calculated, would give $8,119.10 to the county schools and $3,400 to the city schools. Passage of the bill would mean a decrease in school funds when the special allocation is deducted, it was said.

Both bills now are pending in state legislature. However, only three-fourths of the money would come to either school system this year because neither law would become valid until 90 days after it was passed. That means the first installment would come in the May payments from the state, if either of the measures get approved.

The bills were proposed at a time when the city schools took a $2,000 loss on funds based on average daily attendance and the county schools recorded a $14,140 increase in operating costs.

Hilty said the increase was because of boosted salaries and higher prices. The grand total for all purposes in the county schools—including retirement of bonds, repairs and improvements of buildings plus operating costs—has increased from $225,225.20 in 1939-40 to $254,071.44 in 1943-44, Hilty said.

A tabulation of the two bills shows comparative benefits for all the county schools.

School	Daniels Bill	Tarr Bill
Bloomington	$4,009.50	$1,179.75
Concord	580.00
Green	994.50	393.25
Jasper	2,187.90	865.15
Jefferson	5,636.50	1,724.25
Madison	2,799.00	877.25
Marion	963.90	381.15
Paint	580.99
Perry	290.00
Union	4,590.00	1,815.00
Wayne	2,746.80	883.30
TOTALS	$25,398.10	$8,119.10

Hilty said he interpreted the Tarr Bill as not making any provision for two teacher schools, under which Concord, Paint and Perry Township schools would fall, so he made no estimate on money which those schools would receive if the bills were passed.

With a Buckeye In Congress...

By CLARENCE J. BROWN
Member of Congress, 7th Ohio District

By the time this column appears in print the conference between President Roosevelt, Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill will be under way, presumably in Russia. Those in the best position to know predict the conference will last from two weeks to a month, with many discussions scheduled to take care of the numerous detailed problems which will arise in Europe once peace comes. Incidentally, while high military officials here are saying nothing, there is a strong possibility the European conflict may end suddenly, and much sooner than many believed possible two or three weeks ago. Peace feelers are now being sent out by Germany through neutral governments—this time with real earnestness.

The May bill, providing for a modified National Service Act is under debate in the House this week. It provides that men in the age brackets of eighteen to forty-five must engage in essential work or face heavy civil penalties. There is a strong feeling in Congress that such compulsory legislation will not bring the desired war production results, but instead, may lead to abuse of the broad powers granted bureaucratic officials. Many insist more good can actually be accomplished by other methods. President Roosevelt's demand for the drafting of war nurses, together with the publicity given present shortage of nurses, has resulted in a heavy increase in the number volunteering for nursing service. There is now little likelihood of any nurse draft legislation being passed so long as the volunteer system continues to meet current needs. The army and navy already have as many men in limited service as needed or wanted; so 4-F draft registrants will not be taken into labor battalions, as originally suggested, but will be treated in the same manner as other men now in the service. The Tarr House Bill, it is calculated, would give $8,119.10 to the county schools and $3,400 to the city schools. Passage of the bill would mean a decrease in school funds when the special allocation is deducted, it was said.

porary one to relieve an emergency situation. Such nonessential freight shipment embargoes are not expected to become common; and there is no contemplation at the present time of placing rail passenger travel on a priority basis. Priorities are now required only for air passenger travel and freight shipments.

The whole priority system for air transportation will undergo a rather thorough investigation by a senatorial committee as a result of the recent expose of a White House priority being issued for the shipment of a large dog, belonging to Colonel Elliott Roosevelt, to his actress wife in California, and the grounding of service men, holding emergency "C" priorities, who were endeavoring to get home because of sickness or death in their families. The congress wants to know just who at the White House authorized or instructed the War Department to give this dog an "A" priority and travel preference over American fighting men. Incidentally, the whole story was first "broken" or made public by a Seventh District publisher, Karl Bul of the Cedarville, Ohio, Herald.

A most serious coal shortage is developing throughout the northern section of the country. It has been especially severe in New England and in many parts of the mid-west, including Ohio. The shortage is due to two factors: The unusually severe winter, and a reduction in coal production grow-

Many suffer relief from nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Not only congress, but the whole country seems to be up in arms over the president's appointment of Henry Wallace as secretary of commerce to replace Jesse Jones, of Texas. Jones has long been known as a hard headed business man. As chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which comes under the jurisdiction of the Department of Commerce, Mr. Jones has loaned many billions of dollars for all sorts of industrial and other war projects. To replace him with the visionary, inexperienced and business depreciating Henry Wallace is not only an insult to the intelligence of the American people, but a great danger to the post-war future of America. A real fight over the confirmation of Mr. Wallace can be expected in the United States Senate, where the Commerce committee has reported unfavorably on Wallace's nomination and favorably on the bill to separate the Reconstruction Finance Corporation from the Department of Commerce.

Lions To Play Chillicothe Here Friday Markets and Finance

Defense tactics the Blue Lions will use to try to stop the Chillicothe Red Devils when they come here for a return game on Friday at the high school floor have been swapped again.

Coach J. R. Brammer said the new type of guarding had been worked on during the week's practice sessions, but he did not go into details. He merely said he won't know how until Friday night how it works" and then he added: "Don't expect a whole lot, for that Chillicothe team is good."

The Lions have used both the zone and man-to-man style of defense in previous games and in some of them a combination of both with some shifting back and forth as the occasion seemed to warrant. But, none has met with any great success because they have not won a game since they beat the Hillsboro Indians on Dec. 8.

Coach Brammer has not given up hope and still has a measure of confidence in the boys. He insists they will take hold eventually and says "they have the ability. If they will apply themselves." At 10 P.M. curfew is to be enforced next week for all the players, he said, revealing that training rules are being tightened.

The week's drills have been devoted largely to going through some new plays, the coach said. Much time, too, has been spent in practicing basket shooting with individual work on the first string players.

The weaknesses, as Brammer sees it, lie in lack of preparation before the boys get into high school. He expressed the belief that the foundation for shooting, pivoting, dribbling, fake passing, etc., would be laid in the grades and junior high school.

The Lions "should put up a pretty fair game on their own floor" against the Chillicothe boys, their coach believes. They have not looked so good since early in the season, he said.

Experiments are still being made to learn the strong and weak points of each individual he said.

The Lions took a 33 to 27 beating from the Red Devils when they played at Chillicothe on Dec. 15. The Lion Reserves lost a close game by a 19 to 18 margin.

DAY'S ACTIVITIES IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—AP—Selected rails, utilities and industrial specialists operated on the recovery side of today's stock market although many leaders failed to progress.

Bidding was based mainly on actual and expected dividends in addition to price prospects for certain companies. The list suffered after a slightly uneven start and, while leaders were plentiful, advances of fractions to a point of more predominance near the fourth hour. Low-quoted issues were lively without doing a great deal.

Two Indicted On Bribe Charges For Attempting Basketball 'Fix'

By JOE REICHLER

BROOKLYN, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Two New York state legislators are in a legal bind, as far as basketball officials and intercollegiate sportsmen throughout the nation today renewed their efforts to stamp out gambling on games which one source estimated ran as high as $10,000,000 weekly.

While a Kings County grand jury Wednesday returned a conspiracy indictment against two legislators charged with bribing five Brooklyn college basketball players, assemblyman Malcolm Mason introduced a bill to amend state penal law which would make amateur athletes liable to pay up to $1,000 and imprisonment for one to five years. The new law applies only to professional athletes.

Mason introduced in the legislature a bill amending the penal code to make the offering of a bribe to an amateur athlete a felony, instead of a misdemeanor. A person found guilty of a felony is subject to 10 to 20 years imprisonment, whereas a misdemeanor is punishable by only one to two years.

Mason used in the Kings County grand jury indictment were Harry Stemmer and Henry Rosen, lesser bookmakers, who were charged with conspiring to "defame the public" by bribing five Brooklyn college players to play a game against Akron University.

Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

Thirty-nine persons have been arrested in New York City charged with bookmaking, since Jan. 1, Inspector Joseph J. Donovan of the police statistical and criminal identification bureau, announced last night.

College basketball officials promised to do "all in our power to send the bookies and gamblers back into their holes."

The five players, dropped from the school team, face possible sterner punishment today. The Brooklyn College faculty student athletic board was to meet this morning to decide on action. Lederer is president of the College Athletic Association, but will not sit in at the meeting.

GREMLINS LENGTHEN ALLEY LEAD

The top-flight Gremlins added two more wins to their string at the top of the API Women's League Wednesday night when they rolled a match with the Flying Fortresses at the Main Street alleys.

The Forts took one game—the middle one—in the see-saw keeling that kept the Gremlins still on top.

Sweeping the Owls before them, the Gliders scored a one, two, three victory Wednesday night. The first and last games were not easy ones to win, however. The Gliders tucked them under their belt by three and six pins respectively.

Another clean sweep was turned in when the Helicopters romped through their match with the P-38's. The Helicopters won them all. The second game was the thriller of the evening, though, for the Helicopters took it by only one pin.

Aeronauts and Bombers will bowl their postponed game later.

No Protests On Gamblers

COLUMBUS, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Decision at the recent National Collegiate Athletic Association meeting here to hold the eastern division play-offs and finals of the NCAA basketball tournament in Madison Square Garden failed to draw criticism from anyone at the meeting, according to Coach Harold Olsen of Ohio State University, chairman of the NCAA tournament committee.

Replying to a statement by Phog Allen, Kansas coach, that the NCAA "teams up with professional gamblers to hold tournaments where everyone knows bigtime gamblers operate," Olsen said:

"I heard no voice raised from Kansas, and as far as I know Mr. Allen wasn't even here. If the schools themselves had objected to holding the tournament in New York, it could have been changed at that time."

Golden Gloves Tourney Opens

CLEVELAND, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Amateur leather pushers from northeastern Ohio will blast away in approximately 100 bouts tonight as the Cleveland Plain Dealer's 17th annual Golden Gloves boxing tournament opens at the arena.

Two rings will be used tonight and tomorrow night to narrow the field for the semifinals on Feb. 6 and the 16 title bouts on February 9.

All 19 counties of the Northeast Ohio Association of the AAU are represented in the entries. Qualifying tournaments were held in Akron and Youngstown.

The tournament will be conducted in two divisions, the open and novice. The open division offers trips to Chicago for the tournament of champions and to Boston for the National AAU senior championships.

All eight classes from flyweight to heavyweights will be represented.

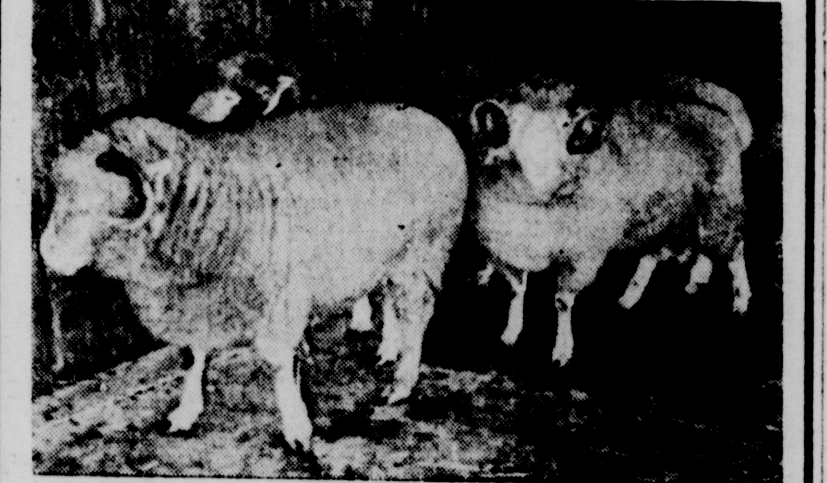

Fox Drive Planned Near Mt. Sterling

Edwin Clemens and Martin Butz are heading a fox drive to be held south and west of Mt. Sterling, starting at 10 A. M. Tuesday, Feb. 6, when all participants are asked to meet at the town hall in Mt. Sterling.

The drive will extend south to Fayette County. Shot guns alone will be permitted. No dogs will be allowed.

COAL SHORTAGE HERE RAPIDLY BECOMING SERIOUS

DEMANDS GROW AND SUPPLY IS ALMOST GONE

No Shipments Are Expected in City for Day Due to Recent Embargo

With a very small amount of coal in yards in Washington C. H. none expected for days, and zero weather creating an increased demand, the coal situation here, according to competent observers, is rapidly approaching crisis, with indications that unless extraordinary measures are taken, a large number of families will be without coal within a week.

"The three day embargo on coal and other freight was the straw that broke the camel's back and the situation is serious and is going to be much more so within the next few days unless there is a pronounced break in the weather," one local dealer said in sizing up the situation here.

Some idea of the heavy demand being made upon local dealers may be gleaned from the fact that in some instances when a Record-Herald reporter sought to contact local coal dealers Thursday forenoon, repeated calls were necessary before the line could be obtained and the dealers answered the telephone.

In nearly every instance dealers were completely out of coal here or else had a very small amount, and most of them were not expecting additional coal until next week.

Large numbers of calls for coal were pouring into each place and one dealer said filling orders was fully a week behind.

Dealers stated that in many instances consumers said their coal supply was sufficient for little more than 24 hours.

A great deal of coal was being trucked into the city and this helped ease the situation, but under a new ruling much of this trucking seems to have been abrogated, adding still further to the badly jammed situation.

City Manager W. L. Stambaugh said he has received numerous calls for assistance in obtaining coal, and is awaiting developments before proceeding with a real emergency committee here.

SENDS ANOTHER MAN TO WORKS

Warning to Vagrants Seen in Court Action Here

Robert Hause, who has often been in police court on charges of drunk and disorderly conduct, received a severe shock Wednesday afternoon, when Judge R. H. Sites, who has decided that there is no place in the city for habitual vagrants, sentenced him to the Dayton Workhouse for one year, suspending six months on condition of good behavior.

Hause was taken to the institution Thursday, in custody of Chief Vaiden Long, and is the third man sentenced to the workhouse on vagrancy and drunk and disorderly charges during the past few days.

Drunk, disorderly and vagrancy were the charges filed against Hause when he was picked up by the police.

C. E. PRINCIPLES ARE DISCUSSED AT ANNIVERSARY

Observance of 64 Years of Service Held Here at Church of Christ

The inception, expansion and principles of Christian Endeavor were explained on Wednesday evening at the North Street Church of Christ when the junior and senior societies conducted the weekly prayer meeting service.

The program was a part of the observance of the 64th year of societies and provided an opportunity to better acquaint members of the congregation with the origin and purpose of this young people's group. The plan of the two endeavors for the coming year also were explained and everyone was encouraged to cooperate in making this year an eventful one for the societies.

Mrs. Lettie Dews, only living charter member of the endeavor of the Church of Christ here, told of her experience in the society and of the influence it held for young people today. Rev. Byron Carver, the church pastor, explained the pledge and how it should be a part of every Christian's life.

Others taking part in the program were Miss Jean Spencer, Miss Alice Davis, Kenneth Bridwell, Miss Jane Cummings, Miss Christine Switzer, Mrs. Harriett Jenkins, Norman Trout, Emerson Carter, Miss Lela Mae McKinney, Miss Mary Jenkins, Miss Patty-rae Cabbage and Kenneth Bennett.

A social hour followed the program.

1945 SCOUT PROGRAM TO BE MAPPED OUT

Scout Committee To Meet Sunday Afternoon

Boy Scout goals for 1945 will be set up Sunday when the district committee meets with Robert Terhune at 614 Columbus Avenue at 3 P. M.

Besides mapping out plans for the year, Boy Scout week, February 11 to 17 will be more completely scheduled. X. L. Garrison, field executive here, said today.

Garrison said all Scouts and Cubs would attend morning services at the First Presbyterian Church and evening services at the North Street Church of Christ Sunday, February 11. Both pastors—Rev. John K. Abernethy and Rev. R. Byron Carver—are themselves scoutmasters and will prepare special sermons for the Scouts.

A court of honor is planned for February 13, Garrison said. He indicated other special plans for Boy Scout week would be announced later. All Scouts will wear their uniforms the entire week.

ABBOTT COIN COUNTER BIG AID TO AUDITOR

An Abbott coin counter has been purchased by the city and installed in the office of city auditor, Miss Vera Veil, where it has greatly simplified the work of counting the great number of pennies and nickels from the parking meters.

The task was a stupendous one before the counter was added and now, with the aid of the machine, which rapidly counts coins from one cent to one dollar, it requires much less time to look after the funds from the meters.

432 KIT BAGS READY FOR NAVY AT RED CROSS

Conner Farm Women's Club Makes, Fills, Packs Bags For Shipping

Today 432 Navy kit bags are filled and packed in cartons ready for shipping to a port of embarkation.

Those 432 kit bags were made and filled by the Conner Farm Women's Club. Mrs. Robert Coffman, president, and the members of the club descended on the Red Cross Chapter House on the last day of January to take over the job of filling them.

With Howard Fogle and Howard Burnett as aides, the women tucked the bags into the boxes for shipment—all in two hours' time. And when they were finished, the women asked for more work... and it's a pretty safe bet they'll get it, Miss Mary Robinson, home service secretary, said as she praised their efficiency.

Another 432 kit bags for the Army soon will be completed, Miss Robinson said.

Mrs. Hubert Follis is chairman of the women of the Church of Christ who volunteer for sewing. One day a week the group comes to the chapter house to sew. Right now materials for refugee garments are arriving and Mrs. Clifford Foster of McNair Memorial Church has completed a sample dress for the 225 women's dresses which are to be made.

At the restaurant a cigaret stub in a waste paper basket in a wash room filled the place with smoke. No damage.

At the hotel a man had been smoking and his cigaret set the bedding on fire, causing much smoke on the third floor of the hotel.

Hand extinguishers were used and damage was held to ruined bedding.
